This manuscript, including its theoretical framework, equations, observations, experimental designs, and poetic integrations, is free for all to use, reproduce, modify, distribute, or transform, in whole or in part, without restriction.

It is offered not as ownership, but as contribution. Not as conclusion, but as invitation. It belongs to no one and is therefore free to belong to everyone.

Wherever there is light, let it curve. Wherever there is entropy, let it breathe. And in that harmonic dance between what is seen and what is lost, may this field serve as one more voice in the rhythm of becoming.
